If our hearts are to be homes for God, we might wonder what our interior throne room looks like. Is God relegated to some corner, or is he the Lord of my Life? Is there truly room for Jesus when I receive him in Holy Communion?

What are the thrones and pedestals I keep stored in my heart for other seemingly important people that block the way of Jesus?

This Week's Gospel Reflection

27th Sunday in Ordinary Time

“So out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field and every bird of the air, and brought them to the man to see what he would call them; and whatever the man called every living creature, that was its name.” (GENESIS 2:19)

The creation story reminds us of two important points. First, since the start, God has put the entire world into our care. Second, stewardship has been around since the beginning of mankind, it isn't something recently invented by the Church. Just as past generations built our Church, it is now our responsibility to continue to nurture and develop these gifts for future generations.

“In life, it is important to know when to stop arguing with people and simply let them be wrong.
